Artist Statement

Janet is a painter/printmaker with a M.A. in Philosophy from the University of Guelph. During her time at Guelph, she also pursued fine art courses at other institutions. Her love of exploring media is apparent in the diversity of materials and techniques she employs such as woodcuts, etchings, monotypes, mixed media, pastel and acrylic painting. Presently she is exploring and creating “tradigital” work that combines digital techniques with traditional methods of image making to produce both 2D and 3D artwork.

Her art has been exhibited in numerous shows including the Art Gallery of Ontario, the McMichael Gallery, nationally and internationally and featured in Canadian books, magazines and newspapers. She is the recipient of numerous awards and is a faculty member in Fine Art at both Nipissing University and Fleming College.
